

Lawyer's Bill Causes Debate In City Council

A bill for $2,000 for legal services presented by Charles Jerome, Jr., last year appointed by the city as special attorney in the city's suit against the New York and Long Branch and other railroads, brought about open discussion between two members of the council Tuesday night.

The discussion was the result of the introduction of a resolution sponsored by Council President Zdanewicz declaring that since Jerome had asked council instruction to continue the suit now pending in the Court of Chancery, he be given that permission. The closing paragraph of the resolution specified that the city did not admit responsibility for the bill as rendered.

No sooner was the resolution read than Councilman Kress arose and declared he wanted to explain the reasons for his vote before he cast it. Kress announced "I feel that the railroad suit should not be continued, I don't think the city is going to benefit any and in the event the city is successful it would mean that it would have to defend an appeal that might be made and as it stands now, it's going to cost the city $2,000, and there is no way of knowing what the second bill will be."

In defense of the resolution, the Council President vacated his chair and took the floor. "We already have a bill submitted for the work done," he declared. "We have not yet received the final verdict from the Court of Chancery and if the city is successful, there is no reason why we should reopen it or fight it again and this resolution makes no additional expense to the city."

When the matter was put to vote, all members of the council, with the exception of Kress, voted in favor. A communication from William Cowan, secretary of the Progressive Fire Co., informed that Dory Edward Nau had been appointed a regular member of the company to succeed John Opiola, lately deceased.

Another of the long sessions behind closed doors preceded the Tuesday night session. The councilmen appeared on the floor for public transaction of business at 9:11 and adjourned their session eighteen minutes later. Because the would-be spectators tired of waiting for the council to make its appearance, many of them left before the opening gavel was sounded.

South River Youth Held For Shooting Man At Melrose Wednesday Afternoon

Charged with the shooting of Benjamin Gordon, 24, of 30 John Street, New Brunswick, at Melrose, Wednesday afternoon, Charles Offenburger, 19, of Water st., South River, was picked up at his home at midnight yesterday by members of the County Detectives staff and officer John Barrow of the South River police force.

According to the police, Offenburger admitted the shooting of Gordon. He said when he asked the man for a ride at the Prospect St. traffic light in South River Wednesday afternoon, he stopped his car and they rode toward this city. He told Gordon to drive the car to the foot of Oak street when they came to that vicinity along the new highway.

When Gordon stopped the car on Oak street the police, Offenburger ordered him to get out, then as Gordon was standing outside the car, he put up a fight and the revolver Offenburger was holding in his hand went off, the bullet penetrating Gordon's stomach. Offenburger said he leaned over to see what had happened and the gun went off twice again, one bullet lodging in Gordon's head behind the left ear and the other hitting him in the left shoulder.

According to the police report, Offenburger then got out of the car and pulled the wounded man's legs from under the wheel, and attempted to drive the car away but ran it into a tree, then took the key and ran away through the woods, throwing the key, revolver and some extra bullets into the bushes.

Police said Offenburger went thru the woods to the railroad crossing in the vicinity of Crossman's clay banks, then out to the Sayreville road where he took a bus home.

Dr. Frank Farrell Speaker At P. T. A. Father's Night

Stresses Importance Of Dental Hygiene And It's Relation To General Health

The part parents may play in assisting their children to a proper appreciation of the importance of dental hygiene and its relation to the general health, was the subject of a talk delivered last night by Dr. Frank Farrell before the P. T. A. of the public schools, when the annual Father's Night was held.

Dr. Farrell pointed out that often parents fail to take into consideration the fact that the child, not fully developed is more a creature of impressions and emotions and far different from an adult, and this fact should always be considered in connection with medical treatment of any kind.

The Science Class of Hoffman High School, under the direction of Frederick Reese and James Tustin furnished the entertainment part of the program, demonstrating a number of interesting experiments.

Refreshments were served by a committee under the direction of Mrs. Irvin House.

Will Use Traffic Lights On Victory Bridge In New Safety Drive

Warning To Motorists To Slow Down For Stop As Protection For Employees

Trenton, Mar. 25th: In his safety drive to prevent any further tragedies of motorists driving to their deaths through the open draw spans of New Jersey bridges, State Highway Commissioner E. Donald Sterner today directed the erection of traffic lights on Victory Bridge, Route 4, between Perth Amboy and South Amboy, and at Cooper River Bridge on Wilson Boulevard, the main highway to the Philadelphia-Camden Bridge.

The signals will also serve to protect the bridge attendants from being injured by speeding cars when they are endeavoring to halt traffic preparatory to opening the span for the passage of boats.

"More than a dozen deaths have occurred at bridges in both North and South Jersey when automobilists have smashed through protective gates and dropped into the deep channels," Commissioner Sterner said today. "In several states," he continued, "buses, trucks and smaller motor vehicles have crashed through the open draw span during fog, rain, snow and sleet storms, resulting in heavy loss of life. Our new signals will warn them in ample time to slow down, bringing their vehicles under control."

"We are using every safeguard in our effort to lessen fatalities," he said. "The most reckless of the car operators have run down our bridge into the swing the safety gates across employes when they were endeavoring to open the span. Under our new plan the attendants will be able to first set the traffic light at red and then proceed with their work of getting the draw open."

"Both the Victory and Cooper River bridges take a heavy volume of traffic and we expect their improvement to add to the efficiency of operation as well as protect life."

Sterner Sets Receiving Date For Bridge Bids

State Highway Commissioner E. Donald Sterner has announced that bids for the construction of the substructure of the new Raritan River bridge will be received at Trenton on Monday, April 11, at 12 noon.

The work consists of the construction of ten river piers by the pneumatic process and treated timber systems. Included in the work will be 1,084 yards of rock excavation in caissons; 26,120 cubic yards of concrete pier bases in caissons; 51,000 feet B. M. creosoted timber; 12,100 lineal feet of creosoted timber piles, 2,229 yards of Class C concrete above caissons; 2,271 cubic yards of granite facing; and 155,000 pounds of reinforced steel.

The proposed bridge across the Raritan River between Sayreville and Woodbridge Township will form the final link in the construction for Route 35 extension and it is believed will eliminate traffic conditions known as the "Amboys Bottleneck" that have existed through this city, Perth Amboy and Woodbridge on old Routes 4 and 35. On the north this extension will connect with Route 25 and Route 4 a short distance south of the Woodbridge cloverleaf and on the south with Routes 35 and 36 leading to the Monmouth County shore resorts, and with Routes 4 and 34 to the Ocean County shore resorts and Atlantic City. On the Woodbridge side the new bridge will be about 3000 feet and on the Sayreville side about 2000 feet upstream from the Victory bridge.

In order to eliminate possibility of interference with navigation on the river, and to provide also for industrial development of the Sayreville river front, the structure will be of fixed high-level type. The main channel span which is near the northerly river bank will have a vertical clearance of 135 feet above the plane of mean high water, sufficient to pass all vessels. The clear horizontal distance between fender systems will be 200 feet and the total length of this main span will be 250 feet.

The overall length of the entire bridge crossing will be about 4450 feet, made up of 29 deck plate girder spans, and the roadway will be of the divided type, providing two 24 feet roadways separated by an island four feet wide. On each side of the roadway, there will be a two foot safety walk protected by an ornamental steel balustrade. With the need type of construction, there will be no obstruction of bridge members above the roadway surface and a clear view of the surrounding territory will be possible from the bridge.

The piers supporting all of the spans will be carried down to ledge rock by the pneumatic caisson method, at an anticipated average depth of about 90 feet below water level. The piers for the land spans will be supported on timber piles.

The spans used on the new bridge will be among the longest in the country. The main channel span of 250 feet will have the longest plate girders in this country, although there have been constructed in Europe some bridges of equal or even greater lengths.

It is estimated that the entire bridge will cost about $4,250,000 and will take about two years to build.

Board of Education Plans Improvements As W. P. A. Project

Will Ask For Appropriation After Survey Is Made

Means of adjusting their budget, cut down by the Board of Estimates, were discussed at the Wednesday night meeting of the Board of Education, held in the office of Superintendent of Schools O. O. Barr.

Adjustments will be made in the various subdivisions of the budget in order to conform with the $71,663.50 appropriation authorized.

The members discussed the necessity for enlarging the stage in the school auditorium, repairing coping on the John Street school and resurfacing the grounds about both schools as well as filling in washouts about the grounds surrounding the High School building. It has been decided to make a survey of the probable cost of this work, after which application will be made for a PWA grant.

The large number of absent pupils in the schools during the past month gave the Board members a cause for considerable concern; a large number of the absentees being pupils of the upper grades. Because of the absence of Superintendent Barr from the meeting it was decided to lay the matter over for discussion at a subsequent meeting.

The Board decided to appoint Mrs. E. Robert Owen to arrange for remuneration as last year and arrange the commencement music at same time. The Board also decided to advertise for bids for school supplies for the 1938-39 term.

The Board accepted an invitation of the Middlesex County School Boards Association to attend a meeting to be held on April 28 at South River.

An application for a position as music teacher in the school was received from Miss Evelyn Nebb, at present assistant instructor in music at New Jersey College for Women.

Rotary Will Hold Next Week's Meeting At Local Y. M. C. A.

Dates Announced For School Children's Puppet Show

The meeting of the South Amboy Rotary Club next Tuesday will be held at the Pennsylvania Railroad Y. M. C. A. on Broadway. The members will be the guests of the Association, and Secretary Paul Milburn has secured a real Eskimo, at present attending a university in New York City as the speaker. He will speak on how it feels to be in civilization for the first time. The members have been invited to bowl or play billiards prior to the meeting. It is expected that the club will be able to boast of a one hundred per cent attendance meeting at this time.

The meeting Tuesday in Wilhelm's Hall was one of the largest attended in some time. The speaker was Carl Mains of the State Department of Health, who gave a very interesting talk on "Venereal Disease and How It Is Being Combated in This State." Although brief, his talk covered a wide field in the present fight being waged in this state and the country against such diseases.

Chairman James Dawson, of the committee in charge of the puppet show being held by the club for the school children of the city, reported that May 5th and 6th had been the dates set for the performances, one to be held in the Hoffman High School Auditorium, and the other in St. Mary's Hall. Superintendent of Schools Barr was appointed to ascertain the possibility of having the city offices taken over by school children during the Rotary National Youth's Week, which happens the first week in May. Mr. Barr is to get in touch with various city officials and ascertain their views in the matter and report back to the club at the next meeting.

Thomas Gleason Announces His Decision To Run Again As Local Mayor Candidate

Puts to Rest Rumors He Has "Cold Feet." Leaders Believe He Will Receive No Primary Opposition—See Further Activity in Democratic Ranks As Result of Announcement

DAVID DILL WILL RUN AS INDEPENDENT REPUBLICAN IN SECOND WARD

Yesterday morning, Mayor Thomas F. Gleason announced that he will be a candidate for reelection as Mayor at the coming elections. The announcement by the Mayor will set at rest rumors that he would not run and would give away to another candidate.

Declaring that he had decided to seek reelection because of the insistence not only of party members, but business men and a number of prominent Republicans as well, the city's Chief Executive laughed at rumors that he had "cold feet" because of the recent announcement that Charles T. Mason would be a Republican candidate for mayor.

"I am not affiliated with any corporation or clique, nor any faction," said the Mayor. "I have represented the taxpayers to the best of my ability and I think the result of my efforts are plainly visible."

The Mayor added that he had inaugurated during the past two years a program for the benefit of the city at large and the taxpayers, which while well under way was far from completion. "There are many things for the betterment of South Amboy that I have in mind that I have not reached yet, and I would like to be reelected in order to complete that program," he said.

Pointing to the reduced tax rate as one of the accomplishments of his administration, Gleason declared "and we have so managed city finances that the city is now on a sound basis, so far as its finances are concerned, and regardless of who is in power next year, the tax rate, with good city management, should be lower next year than it will be this year."

While statements that there were several other mayor candidates ready to hurl their hats into the arena, have been circulated about the city during the past several weeks, it is felt that Gleason's announcement of his candidacy will be the means of putting to rest such rumors, since it is the often expressed opinion of Democratic leaders that Gleason, in the event he chose to run, would have no primary opposition.

Scrapping of Old Railroad Equipment Recalls Movie Making on Raritan River

Recently the water was pumped from "Duck's Nest" pond along the Raritan River above Parlin, and this week work started on the removal of an old locomotive, tender and two railroad cars which have lain in the pond for a number of years. Two Sayreville residents, Charles Burschot and Frank Kocela are in charge of the removal, and plan to sell the metal for junk.

The removal of the engine and cars from the pond recalls the fact that the Raritan River played an important part in the development of the moving picture industry and the local railroad was one of the most popular with the moving picture companies of early days when they sought to film the "thrillers" that were then popular.

The locomotive, a camel back American type was brought here from the Long Island Railroad and was known on that road as No. 56. The last time steam was generated in its boilers was for the purpose of running it off a trestle into the pond to furnish the main thrill of the "Juggernaut," one of the greatest pictures produced up to that time.

The "Juggernaut," produced by the old Vitagraph Company, featured Anita Stewart and Earl Williams, and there was considerable preliminary preparation for the filming of the railroad wreck scene that was the high point of the picture. A trestle, to represent a railroad bridge was built out from the shore almost to the middle of the pond, and a track running off the main line was constructed on the trestle. After this a number of the planks on the trestle were sawed half way through, so that the weight of the train would cause it to collapse.

The filming of the wreck scene took place one cold Sunday afternoon in October, 1914. Because of the importance of the scene and the expense it had incurred, the Vitagraph Company brought to the pond every camera available, and they were arranged in a semi-circle and trained on the trestle. When every thing was ready, the late "Jack McGuire," stepped into the locomotive cab, started the engine and then jumped as the train started across the trestle. When the train hit the spot on the trestle, where the timbers had been sawed partly through the engine and cars plunged into the pond and made such a splash that the flying water landed on the lens of every one of the cameras except one, the smallest in the battery, and failed to "catch" the wreck. While the "Juggernaut" was one of the biggest pictures filmed on the railroad, there were many others photographed during those days when the old Vitagraph had its studios at Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, and the local railroad was especially convenient. The first picture on the road was taken in 1913, and up until 1920, it was much in demand for this purpose, although during the World War, it was too busy carrying munitions from the powder plants at Parlin, to be used for movie work. When the moving picture companies moved their studios to the West Coast, other railroads in that vicinity got the movie work. Many other "wreck" pictures were taken at different points along the line and a locomotive and three cars were sent down a forty foot embankment near Milltown during the same year the "Juggernaut" was filmed. Another picture called for a head on collision between two locomotives, and this was staged west of the Parlin station. At another time, a train and several cars were run into an open draw at South River to furnish the thrill element, and several pictures in which trains struck automobiles were photographed. Many of the Greta Garbo, Robert Taylor and Clark Gables of other days were brought here to act in the pictures photographed on the railroad, and King Bagot, Antonio Morano, Anita Stewart and Pearl White were often seen in person. Pearl White, who performed many of the thrilling stunts that made her famous in pictures like "The Perils of Pauline," and the "Exploits of Elaine" on the local railroad, came here many times and among the stunts she staged was a jump from one moving engine to another during the course of one of the thrill episodes. Pearl was exceedingly popular with employes of the Raritan upon to assist the artists or perform minor parts, and her skill in "rolling her own" cigarettes was marveled at by those who witnessed the performance.

LOOKING BACK 22 YEARS

(Issue of March 25, 1916)

The celebration of St. Patrick's Day, March 17, 1916, in St. Mary's Parish will long be remembered by those who took part.

In the evening St. Mary's Hall was filled to the doors with people who assembled to enjoy a comedy in three acts, "The Old New Hampshire Home," as presented by the Robert Emmett Dramatic Association.

After the play there was dancing for which a large and representative party remained. The music, under the direction of Prof. A. T. Kerr, was excellent, and proved pleasing to the lovers of the terpsichorean art.

Supper was served by the ladies of the parish, and hundreds availed themselves of this feature, and soon the supply was exhausted.

Members of the show cast were: Helen Dooling, William Brophy, Robert Cantlon, James McDonnell, Jr., Julia Delaney, Helen Parker, Neal Floyd, Hannah McNeal, James Holton, John Triggs, John Keene, James Cantlon, Miss N. Cantlon, Miss Helen Welsh.

The big tabernacle meeting, under the leadership of Rev. Ira Evans Hicks, evangelist, and his party, are already drawing large crowds to the big wooden shed built for that purpose at the corner of Main street and Broadway.

The Hicks campaign is being backed by all the evangelical churches of the city and considerable interest is being manifested both in this city and outside. Services were started on Sunday, March 19, and will continue for five weeks, closing on Easter Sunday, April 23.

The tabernacle, a rough wooden structure, covered with building paper, is on Main street, facing Broadway, at the junction of the two trolley lines. It is at present 102 feet by 50 feet in size, with a seating capacity of slightly less than 1,000, but can be increased by building it out to the sidewalk to about 1,400 capacity.

Just before adjournment of the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Health Thursday evening the subject of bottling milk came up for extensive discussion. One of the concerns doing bottling here was criticized for the unsanitary conditions under which the bottling was done.

Rev. J. E. Shaw having been returned to South Amboy to serve as pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church for the fourth year, the church will give a reception to him and his family on Monday night at the church on John Street, at eight o'clock.

On Monday evening, March 20, South Amboy Lodge 1554,oyal Order of Moose, held its regular meeting in Welsh's Hall, with a big attendance. Special business was the admittance of 21 candidates into the order, and making them full-fledged Moose. Including members and visitors, about one hundred were present to witness the admittance of this large class of candidates who listened with great interest to the officers in charge of this work.

While Lodge 1554 is only in its infancy as yet, if it keeps on receiving applications as it has been since January 1, the present rooms will only hold a small percentage of the membership, which now reaches the 300 mark, and before 1916 is gone there will be at least 500 enrolled.

The officers elected Monday were: Dictator, C. Leon Cozzens; Vice-Dictator, M. J. Howley; Treasurer, P. F. Kenah; Secretary, James Minnick; Sergeant at Arms, Edward Covell; Prelate, J. J. Kenah; Outer Guard, L. Miller; Inside Guard, R. St. John; Trustees, three years, William Hines; two years, A. T. Kerr; one year, J. Hanaway, Sr.

C. Leon Cozzens was elected delegate to the National Convention to be held in Mooseheart, Ill., in June, and John D. Mullane was elected as alternate.

Since the storm of last week, wire thieves have been busy, and many have been apprehended.

The Raritan River Railroad expects to receive two more new locomotives from the Baldwin Locomotive Works next week.

The charter of the Troop of Boy Scouts which is being organized in this city closes next Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Ehrlich are rejoicing over the arrival of a young son to brighten their home. He was born on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, and is a husky little fellow.

The sewing club, "Jolly Five," met at the home of Miss Bessie Scally on March 16. They spent a very pleasant evening by telling jokes, singing, sewing and few of the latest dances were done.

Last Saturday evening a surprise was tendered to Master Peter Brown at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Brown, of Main street. About 25 of his young friends assembled to enjoy the event.

We love all the Saints, of course; but there are some that attract us to themselves more than others. Each of us too may be drawn to this one or that, because of some special trait. Some, however, we find distant, as it were; others, we feel, are of character or some special link of nearer to us; and they seem thus nearer because of what we may call the human features of their lives.

Among all the Saints, Saint Joseph holds a unique position—such as no other did hold, such as no other could hold. He was the spouse of the Blessed Virgin and he was the Foster-Father of our Blessed Lord. This two-fold position of honor is sufficient to give him a place in the category of saints that with the exception of the Blessed Mother surpasses all others.

Imagine what it must have meant for Joseph to have lived, for at least twelve years, day after day, in the company of Jesus Christ, God and Man! What it must have meant for him to have lived, during all the time too, in the company of Mary, Mother of God, sinless and perfect! Such associations in themselves, are sufficient to proclaim the necessary holiness that must have been his; the sweet aroma that his soul must have taken to itself through these contracts of ineffable love. Through these years he was indeed their needed Guardian and Protector.

From the beginning, when he became the affianced of Mary, to that last event that gives us record of his life on earth, the temporary loss of the Child Jesus, Joseph stands out as the thoughtful, the trusting, the faithful, the obedient servant of God; he stands out as the most lovable human exemplification of that Divine Paternity that looks upon all as His children, but His children in and through His Divine Son, Jesus Christ.

It is not strange that the Holy Ghost gave the exceptional tribute of His praise to Joseph in that He called him "a just man." And that tribute far exceeds that which we pay when we say today that a man is just. For justice, in the scriptural sense, meant a quality that denoted the possession of all virtue—and to call a man "just" in that language meant that he was morally perfect.

May we not be very thankful that the flower of this devotion to St. Joseph has, in our own time, come into fullest bloom? May we not too, see in this wonderful fact a manifestation of God's providence in that he bridges the lapse of centuries and brings us very near to this beloved Spouse of Mary, this devoted Foster-Father of Jesus, and this saintly Patron of the Universal Church?

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

BY CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM H. SUTPHIN

Airship Stays in Bill

A sustained drive by the opposition to strike out of the Naval Construction Bill the provision for a new three million cubic foot airship was defeated in the House Friday afternoon, with the result that passage of the bill will assure the construction of a new training ship for the Lakehurst naval air station.

Strategically located, convenient to the most valuable industrial and commercial area in the United States it is considered of vital importance to have at Lakehurst a naval base capable of repulsing any threat of attack in this area, which is vulnerable to attack by possible enemies from across the Atlantic.

It is my intention to continue sponsoring legislation to build up Lakehurst until such a naval base is a reality. The ground facilities are already there, and it will be an easy matter to move ships and men to Lakehurst on short notice.

Name and Address, Please

Many of the farmer folk and rural postoffice box holders are taking advantage of the opportunity we offered to order their Spring supply of agricultural bulletins, and we are very glad to hear from them. So far however, about one per cent of those who have made requests have not put the name and address anywhere on the letter sent back to us. If you have sent in your order, and do not have an acknowledgment in a week's time, it is very likely that your address is not available to us and we would appreciate it if you will write again.

Help for Jobmaker

When the House considered the Revenue Act of 1938, it started a general movement toward helping the jobmaker create jobs. The undistributed profits tax was modified. Now the Senate proposes to cut this tax altogether, greatly revise the capital gains tax, and reduce somewhat the present confiscatory surtax charges on large incomes.

These changes in the Revenue Act will definitely increase employment opportunities. Jobs, jobs, jobs! That is the cry of the hour, and the Federal Government must make certain that its activities help create work. Any thought of punitive tax legislation must be abandoned. Proposals to strangle the jobmaker with regulatory legislation must be discouraged. It is the jobmaker on whom labor depends for its daily bread.

This life is a co-operative enterprise between the factors of production. We cannot strangle the jobmaker without also strangling labor.

The signal has been given for less corporate taxation, and Congress is restraining those who would reform business and industry. This combination ought to revive industrial and commercial activity. If the movement carries through to an early end of this Congress, the people can look forward to much better times this summer.

Monmouth-States Island Bridge

Some of the people residing on the north shore of Raritan Bay are urging that a bridge be constructed from the northern end of Monmouth County of States Island. I have communicated with the Port of New York Authority, whose responsibility it would be to construct and operate such a bridge, suggesting that, if they desired it, I would be glad to introduce the necessary legislation in Congress to authorize its construction.

I have received a letter from the General Manager stating that it would be necessary for the Legislatures of the States of New York and New Jersey to effect concurrent legislation directing the Port Authority to proceed. He stated that certain statutes passed concurrently in 1931 expressly provide that the Port Authority may not proceed with the construction of any additional vehicular bridges and tunnels over and under the waters separating the two states without specific enabling legislation.

While the Authority agrees that such a bridge would be physically practicable, it believes that it would not attract sufficient traffic to produce enough revenue to make it self-liquidating. This information is most discouraging not only to the people of the northern end of Monmouth County, but to the entire seashore section, as most people are of the opinion this bridge would do more to develop Monmouth County than any other single project. It would reduce the distance to New York by more than fifteen miles.

Middlesex County Surrogate's Court

All persons concerned may take notice, that the Subscriber, Administrator, etc., of Walter Inman, deceased, intends to exhibit his final account to the Orphan's Court for the County of Middlesex, on Friday, the twenty-ninth day of April, 1938, at 10 a. m., in the Term of April, 1938, for settlement and allowance; the same being first audited and stated by the Surrogate, WILLIAM INMAN, Administrator.

Dated, March 21st, 1938.

Next week's meeting of Troop 91 will be devoted to celebrating the completion of the recent course in First Aid Instruction sponsored by the Red Cross. Individual certification cards will be given to each Scout who successfully passed the requirements. These cards are issued by the National Red Cross and are recorded in Washington, D. C.

Present at next week's meeting will be members of the local Rotary Club and the parents of the Scouts. The Rotary Club was instrumental in securing the course for the boys which was given at the local First Aid Squad headquarters under the direction of Vincent Higgins.

The Troop plans to give a practical demonstration of their acquired

First Aid knowledge as a part of the program.

Scouts who seem to be especially versed in the art of triangular bandaging are Albert Read, Carl Downing, Frank Bors and Sidney Wedden. Triangular bandages are what the name implies, bandages made out of cloths of that shape. These bandages are never put over an open wound, but are used to hold a sterile bandage in place.

Scouts Fred Weiss and Donald Soo of Troop 91, have recently completed their requirements for the signalling test in the Second Class Rank.

Child's Vocabulary

At one year a child may have a vocabulary of three words, at two years around 300, and at six, nearly 3,000.

It Is Dangerous

It is dangerous to sell a SUBSTITUTE for 666 just to make three or four cents more. Customers are your best assets; lose them and you lose your business. 666 is worth three or four times as much as a SUBSTITUTE.

Origin of the Indians
Nothing is known definitely as to how or when the Indians originally reached this continent, but the most generally accepted theory is that they came from Asia across the Bering straits. There are certain anatomical and other resemblances between the Mongolians of Asia and the American Indians that support this theory.

Wore Gems on Certain Days
Besides believing in the powers of gems, English scientists of long ago introduced the fashion of wearing certain stones on certain days of the week. Brilliant, moonstones, and pale stones in general, were the correct thing for Mondays. Red stones were for Tuesdays. Friday was the day to wear emeralds.

New Figure Figures In Bath Tub Scene In "The Woman"

When an actress steps into the role of another actress after a long run in a hit show, the news is usually of minor dramatic importance. When a new feminine recruit, however, steps into the bathtub occupied by a siren of the showbusiness for more than a year, the general effect along Broadway is equivalent to the excitement engendered when news trickles into a newspaper office that a man has bitten a dog. All of course, of course, is prelude to the fact that Betty Lawford is no longer taking her much publicized dip in Max Gordon's production of Claire Boothe's madcap antic, "The Women," now in its fifteenth month at the Ethel Barrymore Theatre. Claire Carleton, trip of figure, blonde and blue-eyed, is the feminine charmer who now disports herself before the avid gaze of paid-up pawholders in the modernistic tub designed by the imaginative Jo Meizner, and once again the Rialto Romeo is bidding high for front row points of vantage. A minor physical indisposition has taken Miss Lawford out of the tub and plunged Miss Carleton into it. With the exception of the defection from the ranks early last summer of Margaret Douglass, replaced by Edith Gresham, the forty actresses in the cast have clung to their histrionic posts since the premiers in December of 1936. Particularly enough, Miss Carleton was to have been the bathtub girl in the company of "The Women" now on tour, but previous contracts prevented the assignment. Like a great many talented actresses, Miss Carleton has found the road to Times Square recognition an almost insurmountable one. She did manage to win a meed of praise in the short-lived "Kill That Story" an Abbott-Dunning opus, but has spent most of her time either in London or on the road. She toured in vaudeville also with Ben Lyon, Bebe Daniels and Sheets Gallagher in a variety skit, but came closest to town recently as the leading lady to Jack Benny in "Bring on the Girls."

Know Your Government

By A. J. EVERSON

The interest shown by the readers of this column is reflected in a number of questions which have been asked concerning certain phases and costs of government, a few of which are answered here.

Other questions and answers will be published from time to time. If you have a question, the answer to which would be of general interest, direct your question to the editor of your paper or to the New Jersey Taxpayers' Association, Trenton.

Questions which are not of general interest will be answered direct by mail.

Question. How much exempt property is there in New Jersey and what are the classifications?

Answer: Public school property $255,346,470 Other school property 67,826,043 Public Property 382,845,176 Church and charitable property 189,252,091 Cemeteries & graveyards 17,326,445 Other exemptions not included in foregoing classifications: Real 86,519,865 Personal 31,822,473

Total $1,030,938,563 Net valuation taxable, 1937 5,768,303,601

Q. What percentage of the tax dollar goes toward our public school education?

A. Considering state, county and municipal governments, of the total cost of government education took 26.3% as shown by the Commission to Investigate County and Municipal Taxation and Expenditure in its report No. 1, issued January 30, 1931. The figures since then show very slight variation and these just quoted may be considered as approximately the percentage at the present time.

Q. How much does it cost to run our public school system in this State?

A. The cost of public education for the fiscal year 1936-1937 was $107,905,010.02. This includes administration, supervision, operation, fixed charges, maintenance, capital outlay, debt service, vocational, continuation, manual training, night schools, etc. Of this amount $75,555,732.58 represents grand total costs of all day schools.

Q. Why do janitors in some schools get paid higher wages than some of the school teachers?

A. There isn't any sensible reason for this. Janitors who get more pay than teachers are probably on the payroll by reason of some political obligation. The teachers themselves should be able to control this. Teachers who are required to devote several years to preparation for their profession should be recognized as worth more to the community in dollars and cents at least than janitors who need no special training and who perform menial services.

Q. What class of municipal employees benefit by pension funds?

A. Policemen and firemen principally, though there are other funds and other employees. There are also the State Employees Retirement Fund and the Teachers Pension and Annuity Fund. These last two named funds are the only ones in this State, to the best of our knowledge and belief, which are on an actuarially sound basis. Every other pension fund (all of which are local) is either now bankrupt so far as the funds derived from the employees contribution and the municipalities percentage contribution (4% of the payroll), is on the brink of bankruptcy or will be there whenever it becomes necessary to draw heavily on the fund by reason of retirements from the service. In other words, not a single one of these funds is sound.

Q. Do you believe the consolidation of local government units would reduce taxes on real estate which now carries most of the tax burden?

A. There are cases where consolidations of contiguous communities would result in material reduction of the tax burden, and there are cases where it just does not seem possible that consolidation would result in substantial savings. This is a subject which needs special analysis in each specific case and there are so many things to be taken into consideration that space does not permit answering this question in detail.

NO NEW BURDENS WANTED

When both major political parties in New Jersey adopted platforms pledging no new taxation, the people justifiably interpreted this pledge to mean there will be no increased burdens in any form from state governmental action.

Warnings have been issued by the State Chamber of Commerce, New Jersey Motor Truck Association and the New Jersey Highway Users Conference that enactment of Assembly Bill 185, providing for the creation of a new state board with price fixing powers, would bring about an immediate three-cent increase in the per gallon cost of gasoline.

Besides producing unbearable gasoline price increases, this vicious measure would give birth to a new state budget item which might be expected to run into hundreds of thousands of dollars annually, with the public as usual footing the bill.

The New Jersey public does not want an additional $20,000,000 burden dumped in its lap by the Legislature. Furthermore, the public doesn't care whether prospective raids upon its pocketbook are called new taxes or new regulation.

The public wants no new burdens of any kind either with or without misleading false faces.

It is to be hoped this sentiment may be appreciated by a Legislature elected on platforms unalterably opposed to new taxes—which pledge obviously carries with it implied opposition to new burdens in any shape, manner or form.

ARSONISTS "ON THE RUN"

The arsonist is "on the run" in the United States. The toll of life and property destroyed by this despicable crime is on the down grade. That didn't just happen—it is the result of decades of unremitting work by the stock fire insurance industry.

In 1866 it was estimated that from 60 to 75 per cent of the losses paid by many stock fire insurance companies were the result of arson. Today, estimates place arson fires at about 10 per cent. This means that tens of millions of dollars of property values are being saved annually that would otherwise be destroyed, and that fire insurance premium rates are at far lower levels than would be possible if the former high arson rate obtained.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters has fought arson by maintaining a special bureau for that purpose. Whenever a suspicious fire occurs, immediate expert assistance is offered to local investigating and prosecuting authorities, and in a very high percentage of cases the criminals are swiftly brought to justice.

THE AMERICAN SYSTEM

(From the New York Times)

By a very large majority the people of Seattle have rejected a candidate for Mayor backed by the C. I. O., and elected instead a more conservative candidate who had pledged himself "to re-establish the city's reputation as a law-abiding community, to restore its financial credit, to suppress intimidation, violence and labor racketeering, and to use the power of the Mayor's office to restore industrial peace and prosperity.

The result of this election, held in a city of nearly a half million people, long beset by labor difficulties, has a significance which goes far beyond that of the usual municipal election.

As was the case last year in Detroit, it casts doubt on the success of efforts to use the political organization of labor, not as part of a general fusion movement in the interest of good local government, but as a separate party instrument intended to advance the interests of a single economic group.

After Detroit and Seattle, there is even more reason than there was before to believe that the old traditions of a political democracy in which men vote as citizens will continue to prevail over the ideology which would substitute for these traditions a new rivalry of "class" antagonisms.

TWO SMALL FIRES HERE THIS WEEK

At exactly nine o'clock two nights in succession this week, Sunday and Monday, the fire bell rang to call out the department. In both cases the blaze was small and little damage was done.

The blaze Sunday night was at the Higgins home on lower Augusta street, where paper and rubbish was burning, apparently set on fire by someone, according to the police theory.

An alarm from box 54 Monday night called the firemen to the store front, where someone had set grass on fire close to the Junior Order Building.

SPEEDING MOTORIST CRASHES INTO END OF CHEESECAKE BRIDGE

Monday night, a car bearing an Essex County license, and going at a high rate of speed, crashed into an iron pole at the side of the bridge house at Cheesecake creek, Morgan, snapping the pole at its base, and otherwise damaging the bridge property. The driver of the car, which was traveling north, claimed that he was momentarily blinded by the lights of an oncoming truck traveling in the opposite direction. The night bridge tender, who was in the bridge house at the time of the crash, had a narrow escape from instant death. He ordered the driver to wait until a State Trooper arrived, but after a few moments driver got the car started and drove toward Newark. On the arrival at State Police they were given the license number and other information concerning the driver of the car, and a summons has been issued for one more man who seems to think the Cheesecake Creek bridge is a speedway.

PIPE DREAMS

St. Patrick's Day was celebrated here the other day by all the Irishmen and the "Boss King," who, although he considers Columbus Day the principal reason for celebrating, also does something about St. Patrick's Day every year, because his birthday falls on the 17th of March. And because of his birthday, he's one of the locals who really did make a trip to City Hall on St. Patrick's Day. He went there for a meeting of the Board of Works, and was surprised with a birthday cake, upon which green was the predominating color.

Figuring something should be done about celebrating the occasion, a local group headed by "Cedar Street Mike," his friend Ann and their pals George and Martha, went up to South River, St. Patrick's Day night and took the Key man of upper Henry street along with them as a spare tire for the date. The Henry street, however, proved to be a flat tire instead of a spare tire and soon passed out from the effects of "red milk." They got him up for work the next morning but only after they began beating him with a rubber plunger designed to clear out clogged pipes.

A Pine avenue resident, known as considerable of a lad with the women, owner of a Nash car and at present romancing with a nurse who works at Marlboro, almost caused traffic conjection on the avenue the other day. He stood in a barber shop window close by his home painting, with his back to the street, all unmindful of the fact that his trousers were badly in need of repair. The Sally Rand effect produced by the open air clothing caused many a smile and titter from passersby.

The boys who belong to the fire company on the hill shouldn't feel so badly about the future; there are nine more months left in 1938 and they may still have a meeting before 1939, although they haven't had one this year despite the fact that six special meetings that were never held have been called. The real reason for the lack of meetings is interesting, but in the meantime, the boys in the company go on furnishing protection to local lives and property.

"Service With a Smile." is the boast of several local institutions, but a clerk in a Broadway grocery close to the post office, went a step further the other day and handed out "service with a kiss." The incident took place when a Henry street girl dared Eddie, the junior clerk, who thinks the scenery in Union City is better than it is here, and the junior clerk took the dare, but was his face red.

There was a light burning in an upper David street residence Friday night and most of Saturday morning because a man who lives in the house strolled over to the "Pinocchio Inn," and came home with a singing jag. While the stimulated pipe fitter was down stairs, singing "Holy Night," the rest of the people trying to sleep upstairs, were yelling "Holy Moses."

Spring is here, all over town, book beer is selling fast and most of the thirderium proprietors are doing a good business. That's not the reason, however, that the "Count of Stevens Avenue" recently blossomed forth in a new pair of trousers. The reason the fellow has a new pair of trousers is because he strained his arm as the result of having a hole in the rear of his old ones. He used to go down the street to the beanery and because of the rear ventilation he would wrap his apron around the rear of his trousers to hide the tear and one day recently he wrapped too tight and pulled an arm muscle.

Fine weather recently has brought the birds out and that reminds us of the fact that the "Word Butcher" had an amusing (to everyone else but him) experience with birds during the past winter. Two other members of the One Thirty Club caught two crows one day and taking them home dyed them red and presented them to the "Word Butcher," declaring they were "Belgium Parrots."

The "Word Butcher" took great care of the birds, but confided to many another sportsman: "One thing about them birds what's got me worried, every time I wash them they bleed." Finally after he had given them about thirty baths, all the red was washed off, and the "Word Butcher" found what kind of birds he had been harboring, and didn't want to "eat crow," so he let them fly away.

They're still sweeping the splinters from the floor of a local beanery caused by the heavy traffic after it was thought one of the boys working there had come into dough Monday. The fellow had a ticket on the Sweepstakes and Monday got a telegram declaring he was one of the winners. Immediately, insurance men wanting to sell him policies, and salesmen trying to sell him automobiles swarmed to the wagon, but it turned out that the telegram was only a joke. The lad is still slinging hash, still dreaming of becoming a millionaire and thinking of what might have been.

Over on John Street, across from the school there is a bicycle garage, where high school students park their wheels. The other day a bus driver's daughter took one of the wheels and two batchelors each took a wheel and the bus driver's daughter went riding with the two batchelors down to the Morgan plant, around Cheesequake and back here. And yet there wasn't a man among the three.

Several weeks ago we reported to you, and you and you, that the fence formerly surrounding the old power house on Fourth street had been taken down by the Doubleyou-peeyea boys and carted off, apparently for firewood in a private residence. Mild weather we've been having lately apparently changed the firewood plans and now the fence is being put up again, around a residence in Mechanicsville.

The other day a certain lady, former resident, but now residing in Newark, was in town again, arranging for a divorce from her husband, well known here. When the telling incident to the divorce granting takes place, a local woman will be mentioned.

An ice truck owned by a Mechanicvillian was stopped the other day by a cop because the tail board was down covering the license. The driver got out, looked the situation over, decided putting the tailboard up would entail more work for him, so he promptly chopped enough of the tailboard off, so he could leave it down and the license number would still be showing.

Hercules the former carpenter is now a detective and is spending most of his time trawling a WPA historian for some reason or other, but it's an up Hill job.

Since he recently attained a score of eighty in one game, Sir James, the lad with the whistling teeth is proclaiming to all the world that he's one of its best bowlers and has issued a general challenge to anyone to roll a match with a yard of gingham, a call ham and a grey settling hen as the prizes. He seems particularly anxious to arrange a game with yours truly for some reason—can it be he seeks revenge?

Many people felt lazy recently as the result of the spring weather, but the prize goes to an attractive brunette who works at the soda fountain in a local drug store. She got the spring fever so bad recently that when she wanted to drink a soda she pasted two straws together with a stick em paper, so as to make a double length straw, enabling her to drink the soda without bending her head.

Forty-Two Street George is jealous of Hitler, who by his recent military maneuvers started to change the map of the world. Unable to go across the pond, George decided to change his own map, so he cut off his moustache.

There doesn't seem to be much brotherly love between local Democrats, judging by the fact that after the Tuesday night Council meeting three of them stole the car belonging to another Democrat and went tooting.

If the Democrat who lost the car only knew about it, he would have called in another prominent member of the party who has turned amateur detective lately, getting information on automobile wrecks. But then, you can't blame the lad much for wanting to be a detective since he rates two badges, one of them gold.

Tuesday night there was an interesting sight on lower Augusta street as a fertilizer maker put tar paper on a shack in the back yard, while he held the instruction book in his hand to see how it was done.

COUNTY EMPLOYMENT SERVICE PLACED 102 IN JOBS DURING FEBRUARY

Placements through the Middlesex County office of the New Jersey State Employment Service, division of the Unemployment Compensation Commission, for the month of February, totaled 102 according to the report of Charles A. Davis, District Employment Supervisor. Of this number 75 were private placements and 27 public placements.

The total number of new registrations for the month was 862 which raised the total of the active file as of March 1 to 13,605.

Private placements of men were as follows: Sales 1; clerical 3; service 3; skilled 6; semi-skilled machine 4; semi-skilled manual 1; unskilled 2.

Women were placed as follows: Clerical 2; service 51; semi-skilled machine 1; unskilled 1. The active file is made up of 11,466 men, and 2,139 women. The active file for New Brunswick and Highland Park alone is 3,300. This number is included in the total of the county.

DIAMOND DUST

Notice that the Sacred Hearts have released John Kuc as manager of their baseball team. . . If you ask me, I'd say they lost half of the team when the popular Kuc left them. . . Pete Pavich is expected to be in Fort Smith, Arkansas, on April 8, which means he will depart these shores on or about March 29. . . He stands his own traveling expenses, but he will be repaid when he sets foot on Arkansas soil.

Can't understand why H. H. S. hasn't booked more than thirteen baseball games this season. . . The Governors team won't be any too spectacular this year, but don't sell them short. . . St. Mary's nine will be the threat of the county. . . They tell me that Bob Clark is the outdoor basketball champ of the town. . . Rab Primpka is still trying to get an introduction from a soda jerker who works near the Augusta street crossing.

The first improvement that the city league officials should make on the city league field is to garner some fence posts and insert them at the Ward avenue entrance of the diamond. . . Many automobile drivers in our town use the field for a race track. . . Heard someone call the Blue and Gold baseball field a clear box the other day.

The one reason why Sacred Heart athletic teams are not up to par with their teams of yesteryear is due to the fact that they only allow club members, who must be of Polish descent, to perform on their teams. . . In previous years when the Hearts were considered top notchers, their various teams always had "outside" players on their squads, who unquestionably were responsible for many of the Hearts victories. . . If the Hearts expect to possess the athletic spotlight they held years ago, they'll be forced to permit alien players to perform on their teams.

Believe it or not, Joe Bailey, the county's most outstanding bowler, was benched in a match game at the Eagles alleys in Spotswood during the county tournament. . . He bowled with the Aces, the team that possesses a bowler with the most peculiar delivery ever seen in these parts. . . He was benched because he rolled a paltry 106.

Young "One Punch" Monaghan wants this corner to write him up for being the quietest pin boy in the Y. M. C. A. The only time he is quiet is when he's sleeping. . . Wonder if any team in the county will give the Sacred Hearts a worse shellacking than they received from the Romeo All Stars last season. . . Hobby Kurzawa is being mentioned for the manager's job of the Romeo baseball team which opens the season at Sayreville on April 24.

Rumors about town have it that Mr. Post will have a football team next year which means half of the Tiger team will be on his roster. . . The Tiger baseball team should be easy to defeat this season because their ace pitcher, Rip Mercer, is in love. . . Waj Kelly says he'll sell his first base position to Joe Rush for a couple of bucks. . . Romeo's All Stars have signed three new pitchers—Red DiBiase, Bill Stratton and Chet Meinzer.

Coach Jim Dobrynski is attempting to convert Bob Maxfield into a pitcher. If Bob can be half as good as his father was in his heyday, he'll be the best twirler in these parts. . . Someone told me that Red Springale is trying to learn the French language. . . Hats off to Frank Morgan for being the city's number one basketball player of the season.

MOE FORGOTSON IS MANAGING GEO. SMITH COLORED FIGHTER

Moe Forgotson, one of the city's leading boxing exponents and for years manager of fighters, and taken another mit artist under his wing, for whom experts predict a great future.

The fighter, a colored boy named George Smith, is a middleweight, who claims Pittsburg as his home, and has fought a number of bouts in that vicinity in the middleweight class. His fighting weight is 158 pounds.

Forgotson has arranged for Smith's appearance in several bouts in this section and he is now training at Stillman's Gymnasium in New York City. Smith will appear in Rockland Palace, New York and the Arena at Philadelphia in the near future.

Managers Announced For Sacred Heart Club

To Place Semi-Pro Team In The Field—To Play Sunday Baseball

At a special meeting of the sports committee of the Sacred Heart club held during the week end, John Zdanewicz announced that George Lazoda and Al Pietraszka will be the field managers for the baseball team during the coming season. Charles Sharo has been appointed hooking manager. It has been decided that this year the club will put a semi pro team on the field to play Sunday baseball and also to enter a team in the City League.

Lost Rivers

In spite of the fact that Jamaica is an island, many of its rivers never reach the sea. As in the cave regions of Kentucky and Tennessee, so in Jamaica there are many streams that disappear into cavernous openings in the earth, some never to see the light of day again, so far as is known, and others only at considerable distances and under new names.

Tribes Worship Fire The worship of fire is practiced by some primitive tribes in Africa, Asia and America.

Ancient Egyptians' "Home"

To the ancient Egyptians "home" had a threefold meaning; there was the home of the god, the home of the dead, and the home of the living. The first and the second absorbed most of the people's interest and energy.

"Macadamized," English Word An English word, four syllables long derived from four foreign languages, is "macadamized," that is partly Gaelic and partly Hebrew, with a French suffix of Greek origin, and, of course, an English suffix.

Local School Girls Attended Conference Held Recently at NJC

Misses Jennie Bloodgood and Ruth Justice Represented Hoffman High

The Misses Jennie Bloodgood of 435 Louisa street, and Ruth Justice of 246 South Broadway, represented Hoffman High School, March 23, at a Pre-College Guidance Conference at New Jersey College for Women. This conference was the second in a series of three one day programs which the college is this year offering high school girls in place of the week end Pre-College Guidance Conference of past years. The change was made because N.J.C. no longer has reserve dormitory space to use for an overnight meeting.

The local students attended classes in the morning, had lunch with the college students, and visited libraries and laboratories in the afternoon. The program closed with a tea, at which the "Weeping Willows" a group of college students, entertained.

The program Wednesday concerned only the fields of history, political science, economics, sociology, philosophy and psychology. On April 12 high school girls whose interests and abilities are along the lines of home economics will have an opportunity to spend the day on the campus and to take part in a similar program.

LOG of the U.S. MARINES

SHIPWRECKED AT SAMOA

Caught in the grip of a hurricane, seven war vessels were tossed about like corks in the harbor of Apia, Samoa, in March, 1889. Lashed by the fury of wind and waves, only one of the ships escaped, while others were wrecked on the reefs or stranded, despite the heroic efforts of their commanders and crews to save them.

Three of the ships were American, three German, and the other a lone British craft which managed to escape. The death toll on the ill-fated ships amounted to one hundred and forty-four, and the survivors witnessed unforgettable deeds of bravery.

Toiling furiously in the firerooms of the vessels were U. S. Marines and sailors, expecting to be drowned like rats at their posts. Some were swept from the decks by gigantic waves; others were drowned while trying to swim ashore. Ship crashed into ship, and the helpless workers on shore were powerless to aid them. Bluejackets and U. S. Marines behaved with the utmost courage. Fully one-half of the Marines on the Valtalla were drowned. When their own ship was doomed, the gallant sailors and marines on the U. S. S. Trenton cheered the more fortunate British vessel which steamed to safety. Others raised the Stars and Stripes on their sinking crafts; the Trenton's band played our National Anthem in a pitiful and tormented defiance of death.

American, German, British and Samoan alike joined hands in a heroic effort to help one another, forgetting their differences in the face of a common disaster. Although the subsiding storm left behind ruined homes and wrecks of powerful ships strewn along the shore, it had etched a new chapter in the oft-forgotten saga of the brotherhood of men.

A fencing exhibition and a tap dance review were given. Miss Littell, the daughter of Mrs. Howard D. Littell of 265 Bordentown avenue returns to her home here today for the spring vacation. She is a member of the Peltosophian Society and treasurer of the Athletic Association. Classes at Centenary will be resumed on Monday, April 4th.

Have "All-Day Cigarettes" The Burmese, inveterate smokers, delight in puffing an "all-day cigarette." From one to two feet in length and two inches in diameter, these cigarettes are of sufficient size to serve an entire family, including the baby, from morning until night. In fact, says Collier's Weekly, they are usually so large and heavy up to noon that they may be used as weapons of defense.

Mrs. Helen E. Tustin Well Known Here Buried On Sunday

Mrs. Helen E. Tustin, who for 13 years resided at 264 Bordentown avenue, South Amboy, passed away early Saturday morning at her home in Sewaren where she had moved last October.

Mrs. Tustin suffered a heart attack during the winter and scarcely had recovered when she was stricken with pleurisy. After three weeks in the Perth Amboy Hospital, she was discharged and appeared to be recovering but her weakened heart could not pull her through.

Mrs. Tustin was the daughter of Captain W. G. Ferguson, the youngest chaplain in the Civil War. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Woodbridge, following which the body was escorted by her sons to Bloomsburg, Pa., Mrs. Tustin's birthplace, where interment took place Monday.

Besides leaving a host of local friends, Mrs. Tustin is survived by her husband, E. B. Tustin of Bloomsburg, Pa.; two sisters, Miss Jessica C. Ferguson, Harrisburg; Mrs. Geo. W. Scott, Mt. Carmel, Pa. and four sons, Edward, of New York; Joseph of Sewaren; Henry of Philadelphia, and James, the latter teaching at the South Amboy High School. Two grandchildren also survive.
